PREFACE

In view of the approaching Centennial celebration, the Board of Directors at the meeting of May 4, 1922, entrusted the preparation of a new edition of the Biographical Catalogue to the President of the Seminary. Immediate plans were made for the collection of data, and a questionnaire was sent to all the living graduates and former students, but the publication was deferred until the centennial year in order to make the printed record of the service of the sons of the institution a part of the commemoration of its founding. The actual work of collecting the material and compiling it has been done by Miss Margaret M. Read, the President's Secretary, under his supervision.

The present volume is based upon the Biographical Catalogue of 1909, which was in turn dependent upon two earlier editions, one published in 1885 with Rev. S. J. M. Eaton, D.D., as compiler, and the second in 1899 under the direction of Rev. Joseph T. Gibson, D.D. Prior to 1885 lists of graduates had been published at irregular intervals but without biographical details, and consequently they are not helpful in the work of compilation.

Every effort has been made to secure completeness and accuracy in the records, but, notwithstanding all our painstaking care, omissions have occurred and errors have undoubtedly crept in. We trust the readers who discover mistakes and omissions will make due allowance for the difficulties which are a necessary part of a record made up of dates and abbreviations. Those who find any material errors will do a real service if they will bring them to the notice of the compiler.

A diligent search was made for the whereabouts of men whose addresses had been lost. In some instances the quest was successful, but more often no trace could be discovered. The failure usually occurred in the record of those who had followed teaching or had gone into business or had demitted the ministry for some other reason.

We wish to thank the stated clerks of Presbyteries, the registrars of colleges and seminaries, and the alumni who have assisted the compiler in tracing graduates and former students whose addresses were lost. In a good many instances the assistance thus rendered has added to the accuracy and completeness of the record.

Before the reader attempts to use the Biographical catalogue, he is asked to note the directions on p. 28 and the list of abbreviations on p. 388.
